

Racking End Protection

Pallet racking end guards are designed to protect the end of each row of racking.

Finished in high visibility safety orange and are fixed with mechanical or chemical anchors directly to your warehouse floor for easy installation. Utilizing 100 x 100 x 6mm RHS posts welded to a sturdy 10mm floor plate and a 310mm high protective steel barrier ensures ultimate rack protection.

Rack end protection is vital, not only for warehouse safety in general, but also reduces costly unusable pallet locations once the racking is damaged and can no longer safely store pallets.

Pallet racking end protection can be replaced far more economically and safely than replacing frames and beams.
